Emerging Nurse Researcher Award

PURPOSE

The purpose of the Honor Society of Nursing, Sigma Theta Tau International's (STTI's) Emerging Nurse Researcher Award is to recognize an early-career nurse researcher from each of the global regions whose research has influenced the profession and the people it serves. STTI membership is required.

ELIGIBILITY

All active STTI members worldwide are eligible to be nominated for this award. Members may not self-nominate; any self-nominations will be disqualified. STTI current elected board and committee members, STTI staff, STTI consultants and contracted staff, and members of the judging committee are not eligible.

CRITERIA

1. Completed and earned a doctorate after December 2012
2. Demonstrated that research has had an impact in a country or global region on the profession, patients, families, community, or policy
3. Demonstrated a record of disseminating research results in professional nursing and/or non-nursing publications and oral and/or poster presentations
4. Received external funding, university funding, or unique organizational support with justified unique context of funding as Principal Investigator (PI) or Co-PI
5. Recognized as an early-career investigator and emerging leader whose work is influencing practice, education, administration, research, and/or utilization of evidence

SUBMISSION REQUIREMENTS

Supporting documents required below must address the criteria. Entries that do not meet the criteria and requirements below will be disqualified. A complete online nomination consists of:

- Online entry form and payment
- Supporting narrative, from the nominator: Using the five criteria as subheadings, clearly describe area of emerging interest and scope (no more than 500 words with subheadings)
- Three letters of support from diverse sources supporting the criteria (interprofessional colleague, supervisor, coworker, etc. – excluding nominator)
- Nominee's curriculum vitae, plus a listing of three to five publications that showcases the criteria, including nursing and non-nursing peer-reviewed publications
- Letter of Acceptance - Statement from the nominee agreeing to attend STTI's International Nursing Research Congress if selected
- Supporting documentation as evidence of nominee's contribution as outlined in the five criteria above (not to exceed seven pages)
